This project used LibGDX which is licensed under the Apache License 2.0 which permits commercial use and distribution and is therefore suitable for this university assessment. We are using the latest version of java, JDK 25 licensed under the Oracle No-Fee Terms and Conditions (NFTC) and permits free use for development and production. These licenses are suitable as they do not restrict the use of third party assets. We used the following assets in our project, all being licensed for commercial use with only the professor and coin images requiring attribution which we placed on the website.

The assets are from Pixabay, Itch and Flaticon. Pixabay uses the Pixabay content license which is free for commercial use without attribution. Itch does not use a specific license as each asset lists their own terms, and Flaticon allows commercial use if you provide attribution.

All features were fully implemented.
